

It is maple syrup time

 Canada produces about 85 per cent of the world's maple syrup. Quebec is famous for its maple syrup.

In the spring, workers collect sap from the maple trees. Workers boil the sap and make different products. For example: maple syrup and maple candy.

Communities across Canada have special maple festivals in March. You can try some maple treats there.

All images: iStockphoto • maple syrup production source: <www.ats-sea.agr.gc.ca/supply/3310_e.htm>