I love computers

I'm from the Philippines. I've been living in Canada since March 26, 2006.

When I was young, I liked to take electronics apart. For me, it was fun.

When I was in high school, I learned about computers. Since then, I've been interested in anything about computers.

Here I am at the computer.

Future plans

Some people think that working with computers is boring, but not me. I am taking classes at Lethbridge College.

My future plan is to go into a Computer Information Technology (CIT) program.
