

What we are listening to...

Podcasts are great ways to listen to conversations firsthand. We only wish there were an opportunity to jump in and contribute. Here are three conversations that we are listening to—and suggest you join us!

Inside Voice

WITH LEE & KURT HOLFELD

This dynamic brother and sister duo are in conversation about creating safe space. Both educators, Lee and Kurt explain some of the more common characteristics of physical spaces from an interior design perspective and how that impacts learning.

Plus, the Holfelds are fun! These siblings are comfortable in conversation, and this podcast is a great example of co-creating authentic spaces for learning.

Key takeaway:
Learning together matters.
